Biography (long)

Kyle Marker is an established and versatile performer and educator that has been active in the greater Metro Detroit area for over a decade. As an educator he has taught students between the ages of 5 and 75 in subjects such as classical and contemporary guitar, music theory, composition/songwriting, and additional instruments such as the piano, bass guitar, and ukulele. He has performed at weddings and other social events as a solo artist and in duos and trios. As a member of different bands he has performed at venues such as the Magic Stick in Detroit, Callahan's Blues Bar in Pontiac, Eastern Market in Detroit, and The Emerald Theatre in Mt. Clemens. In 2012 his band, The Deals, were the winners of the Detroit Blues Society Youth Blues Competition and had the fantastic opportunity of traveling to Memphis and performing on Beale Street as part of the International Blues Festival. As a performer with the Oakland University Guitar Ensemble he has been a part of the world debuts of pieces by composers such as Terry Herald and Anthony Lansman. He has worked as a session musician for the group Null Paradox and has recorded at the Tempermill Studio in Ferndale. Additionally he has performed in masterclasses for GFA winners Rovshan Mamedkuliev and Anton Baranov. He has taught in Rochester Hills, Shelby Township, Walled Lake, Lake Orion, and he currently teaches privately and at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music. He graduated cum laude from Oakland University in 2014 with a Bachelors of Instrumental Performance and he is currently pursuing a second Bachelor's degree in Music Technology. He currently resides in Southfield where he lives with his girlfriend and their two dogs. When he is not playing music he enjoys gardening, trying out new recipes, exercising, and occasionally watching sci-fi tv shows.
